

The Problem? Removing a 30 Foot Palm

Loose, It Must Be lifted Over Walkway

Over 60 Feet Up, It Weighed 8 Tons

SUCCESS, WHICH COULD easily have spelled disaster if every move had not been carefully watched by Roy Wehrle, who supervised the removal of this giant palm from a court in front of the Palm Springs Clinic on Via Lola near Palm Canyon. The tree had to be moved to make way for an expansion of the clinic offices. A job that was scheduled to take just short of a hour to complete ran almost three hours, with wind and rain causing a slight setback. (Desert Sun Photos).

Report Calls Foreign Aid 'Wasteful'

Ike Relays Report Asking New Agency To Congress Today

WASHINGTON — (UPI) — President Eisenhower sent to Congress today a report acknowledging waste and maladministration in the foreign aid program and calling for steps to end it.

The report also recommended that nations receiving aid seek to guarantee increasingly honest government at their end.

THE REPORT, prepared by a presidential study committee of former government officials, was transmitted to Congress by Eisenhower without comment.

The committee, headed by William H. Draper Jr., also recommended long-range financing of the overseas development loan fund, a proposal that the President himself once opposed.

CONGRESS HAS approved a compromise bill, now on the President's desk awaiting his signature, which authorizes $3,556,200,000 in foreign aid spending during the current fiscal year.

But the big foreign aid battle, in which charges of waste and maladministration will play a large part, is still to come.

PRESIDENTIAL committee said its members were "aware of the charges of waste and maladministration made in connection with our aid program."

It recommended creation of a single federal agency to administer all economic aid programs now scattered throughout the government under general supervision of the State Department.

Funeral services will be conducted here Friday for Georgina La Verne Fletcher, of 67-797 Cove in Tramview, a 26-year-old drug store cashier who was electrocuted by an allegedly faulty ice cream freezer Tuesday.

Mrs. Fletcher, a native of Oklahoma, had lived here for the past 23 years. She leaves her husband, Earl, of Cathedral City, and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Gotsell, of Tramview.

Funeral services will be conducted in Wiefels and Son Mortuary Chapel at 1 p.m., Friday, by John Hudson and James Scott, of the Palm Springs Church of Christ. Interment will be in Mansfield, Ark.

19-Year-Old

Miss California Wins U.S.A. Title

LONG BEACH, Calif. — (UPI) — Terry Lynn Huntingdon, a 19-year-old UCLA coed who refuses to give up college for an acting career, is the new Miss U.S.A.

The green-eyed dark-haired beauty from Mount Shasta, Calif., won the title Wednesday night over four blondes in the final round and will represent the United States against 33 foreign contestants in competition for the Miss Universe title which gets underway tonight. Miss Universe will be chosen Friday night.

THE 5-FOOT, 6½-inch, 120-pound college sophomore, who measures 36-23-36, threw herself into the arms of her mother, crying: "Momma, Momma! I can't believe it. When I stood there in the wings I just couldn't move."

CofC Backs Rio Del Sol College Site

Hotel Association To Take Similar Action at Meeting

Palm Springs Chamber of Commerce directors today added new impetus to the west desert's junior college campaign by unanimously drafting a resolution recommending Rio del Sol Road as the location for the future College of the Desert.

The chamber's action was followed almost immediately by a Palm Springs Hotel and Apartment pledge to "take similar action" as soon as possible.

THIS MORNING'S chamber resolution amended a prior chamber consensus opposing the Indian Wells Cove site now rated as the college location highly favored by the Coachella Valley Junior College District Board of Trustees.

The resolution, duplicating those already adopted and forwarded to the board by the Thousand Palms Cathedral City and Rancho Mirage Chambers, was dispatched to the Board of Trustees in the form of a telegram.

It particularly cited the "more accessible" and "central location" of a 240-acre Rio del Sol Road site, rated as the "number two" location in board considerations.

BOTH POINTS WERE heavily stressed in a supplementary statement issued by Chamber President Warren Slaughter.

The Board of Directors of the Palm Springs Chamber of Commerce, after consideration of all the known facts relative to the selection of a site for the new junior college, are unanimously convinced that an area more accessible and centrally located than the Indian Wells Cove now under consideration would be the overwhelming choice of the taxpayers that comprise the college district.

THE RESOLUTION also noted that "the success of a bond issue for the erection of the college rests entirely upon an intelligent site selection."

Jetliner Makes Safe Landing

TUSCON, Ariz. (UPI)—An American Airlines Boeing 707 jetliner, with 94 passengers and a crew of eight, made an emergency landing at Municipal Airport here Wednesday night.

Her mother, Mrs. Iola Huntingdon, a slim gray-haired woman, replied: "I knew you had it all along, honey."

STANDING BY as the two women embraced was Terry's brother, John, who was graduated from West Point last month and watched the contest in full-dress uniform with some 4,500 other spectators at Municipal Auditorium.

"She's a sister in a million," he beamed.

Runners-up in the finals were: Miss Texas, Carelean Douglas, 20, a student at Southern Methodist University; Miss Florida, Nantia Greene, 21, a senior at the University of Miami; Miss Georgia, Dorothy Gladys Taylor, 18, and Miss New York, Arlene Nesbitt, 21, a registered nurse.

SERIES ON APPROVED SITES FOR COLLEGE STARTS TODAY

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the first in a series on the proposed site for the College of the Desert, utilizing material carried in this newspaper the past several days, together with the report to the college trustees by the Bureau of School Planning, California State Department of Education.)

Indian Wells Cove or Rio Del Sol near Avenue 40? This is the basis of the controversy now being conducted by officials of the junior college and Desert communities located east of Palm Desert.

Location is a vital factor in establishment of a junior college—perhaps the most vital factor. And a district torn by dissension prior to start of the college itself—or even prior to voting of bond monies for establishment of facilities and acquisition of land—could cause setbacks for the board of trustees

In its effort to inaugurate an educational program as soon as possible.

This is the reason for the statement by the Bureau of School Planning that "new junior college districts have had fewer acquisition and financing problems when they have delayed the purchase of a specific site until a bond issue has been passed to finance site and construction needs."

There has been no implication by proponents of the Rio Del Sol site that they would oppose a bond issue if the college was located at Indian Wells Cove, but the state office implies that this no doubt would happen.

And, according to one of the arguments of the proponents of the Rio Del Sol site, it is located in the center of population both now and in the projected future. This would mean that the vote would be controlled from the western end of the district—but western end voters have not attempted to control any election in the past, electing a representative group from the entire district as an example.

Dr. Roy McCall, first president of the future college, this week called for unity on the part of all communities and all residents within the district, saying that "a truly community college" will do the total value "honor and good."

What will happen in the future is difficult to predict but the board has expressed its desire to condemn the Indian Wells Cove site if necessary, and civic leaders of Palm Springs, Cathedral City, Rancho Mirage and Thousand Palms are just adamant in their stand for the Rio Del Sol site.

(Next: What the state bureau had to say about both sites.)

Planners Okeh Nursery Plan, Council Vote Seen Aug. 5

Former kindergarten teacher Edith Ritter cleared the first official hurdle in her plans for a new children's play school yesterday as three city planning commissioners voted for "happy laughter" in preference to "honking horns."

The planning commission approved, by a three-to-two vote, Mrs. Ritter's application for a conditional use permit to operate a play school for pre-school children at 250 South Patencio Road.

BUT THE CITY Council has the last word on the hotly contested permit. The council is expected to consider the permit at its Aug. 5 meeting.

Final planning commission hearing on the play school yesterday featured heavy repetition of previous pro and con arguments, salted with new testimony alleging that the "exclusive" residential area abutting the school site isn't all it's cracked up to be.

"THIS IS NOT the area we think of as the Tennis Club area," said Warren Slaughter, attorney for Mrs. Ritter. "It is an area of small hotels, vacant lots and homes that are not in the best of care."

On this basis, Slaughter contended, the school could not be detrimental to the neighborhood, a point heavily debated by opponents who charged that the presence of some 30 youngsters would not have a favorable effect on property values.

SLAUGHTER AND citizens supporting Mrs. Ritter claimed that the "happy laughter of children at play" is not as disturbing as the "honking horns" of cars of hotel guests.

Slaughter also presented the

Nixon, Wife Draw Blast By Premier

Kozlov Greet Pair As Khrushchev Leads Anti-American Tirade

MOSCOW — (UPI) — Vice President Richard M. Nixon arrived in Moscow for an 11-day good will tour today. He was met by a chorus of anti-Americanism led by Premier Nikita Khrushchev himself.

Nixon and his pretty wife, Pat, were greeted warmly at the airport by an official party headed by First Deputy Premier Frol Kozlov, but at almost the same moment Khrushchev was telling an audience elsewhere in Moscow that America is "interfering in Soviet internal affairs."

THE PREMIER, reacting angrily to President Eisenhower's proclamation of "Captive Nations Week," said sarcastically that Nixon should "come and have a look at the 'enslaved people' gathered at this stadium."

Although neither the President's proclamation nor the congressional resolution that inspired it mentioned any nation by name, Khrushchev and the Soviet press were quick to identify it as an attack on Russia.

"NIXON HAS asked to talk to ordinary people," Khrushchev said in a 40-minute speech to a Soviet-Polish friendship rally. "He thinks that as soon as they hear an American they will understand that socialism is evil and that capitalism is good."

"Well, he can go to see anybody he wishes. Let him hear what the Soviet people think and say

"When enslaved people want to liberate themselves, they get rid of the capitalist and exploiters. The capitalists regard as free those countries where they could plunder and not be responsible for their antipopular actions."

THE OFFICIAL Soviet press and radio also hurled denunciations at America, inspired for most part by the "captive nations" proclamation.

Today's issue of the Navy newspaper Soviet Fleet published an article, "Americans about America," quoting U. S. newspapers and magazines and the Congressional Record to present a picture of hard times in the United States.

The article referred to unemployment, job discrimination against women, and included a passage about Kentucky miners titled "hunger is an everyday reality."

NATIONWIDE ALARM OUT FOR MISSING BLONDE SOCIALITE

NEWARK, N.J. (UPI) — A national alarm was out today for a 21-year-old socialite beauty who disappeared at Newark Airport late Tuesday after kissing her fiancé good-bye at a plane gate.

Jacqueline Gay Hart, a 1935 debutante who was graduated from college in June and was to have been married in just five weeks, apparently never reached her graduation — present car, found parked in a brightly lighted area just 50 feet from the entrance to the airport terminal.

The only apparent clue to her fate was the report of her fiancé, Stanley Noyes Gaines, 25, that he saw four or five "hoodlums" follow the small blonde beauty from the airplane departure gate.

THE 193,545 municipal golf course budget got City Council approval last night, but only after Councilwoman Mary Carlin charged that the city "was not keeping its promise with the people."

Mrs. Carlin, who cast the only dissenting vote against the adoption of the budget, said that she wanted it on record that the council was borrowing funds from the capital outlay fund to start in the golf business. "You are taking money out of the street fund to help with the start of the golf course, and we need streets badly in this town," she said.

BUT COUNCILMAN George Beebe, Jr., said that the transferring of funds was only for a specific period of time and told the people present that "it is being done all the time in city government."

Cuban Laborers Strike, Demand Power for Fidel

HAVANA — (UPI)—Havana, a city of more than a million people, and the rest of Cuba were paralyzed for one hour today by a strike called by organized labor to demand the return of Fidel Castro to power.

Exactly at 10 a.m. Havana time, the whole city's working force, with the exception of those persons in the most urgent jobs, walked out.

Roadblocks were erected throughout the city to prevent movement of any traffic and the quiet was broken only by the conversation of workers idling in the streets and sporadic parades of individuals demanding that Castro return to power.

WEATHER

Desert area forecast: Mostly sunny today and Friday but clouds in the afternoon and some widely-scattered afternoon or evening thunderstorms. Little temperature change. High temperatures today from 100 in the high deserts to 115 lower valleys.

Yesterday's high was 112, the low 74.

Water Found At Golf Course

Director of Public Works Phil Abrams said today that drillers have struck water at 500 feet at the new well on the municipal golf course site, and were now starting to case the shaft.

Although Jim Wright dropped the cutting tools a total of 507 feet, water was abundant at 500 feet and the extra 7 feet were cut "just to make sure."

U.S. DISPLAY LAGS BUT 'WILL BE READY' FOR SOVIET GAZE

MOSCOW (UPI)—The director of the American exhibition in Moscow said today the show "will be ready" for its scheduled opening Friday and "it will be a great show."

Director Harold McClelland made the statement to American and Soviet newsmen who were given a preview of the exhibition.

Many of the correspondents estimated, however, that the exhibition was three-quarters finished and they didn't see how it possibly could be completed on time.

Council Approves $193,545 Budget

The $193,545 municipal golf course budget got City Council approval last night, but only after Councilwoman Mary Carlin charged that the city "was not keeping its promise with the people."

Mrs. Carlin, who cast the only dissenting vote against the adoption of the budget, said that she wanted it on record that the council was borrowing funds from the capital outlay fund to start in the golf business. "You are taking money out of the street fund to help with the start of the golf course, and we need streets badly in this town," she said.

BUT COUNCILMAN George Beebe, Jr., said that the transferring of funds was only for a specific period of time and told the people present that "it is being done all the time in city government."

"The golf course is the only thing that the city owns that will return revenue to the city and it's too bad that we have to continually defend it — it needs no defense," he added.

"WE HAD TO borrow funds from capital outlay in order to get equipment to operate a business, and it will be paid back to the capital outlay fund. Nothing will suffer from the loaning of the funds," Beebe pointed out.

The administration told the council and the audience that there were no road projects that would suffer because of the loaning of the funds to the golf course.

Mrs. Carlin ended the discussion by saying that she did not believe the golf course "will make money, it won't break even."

The document was placed in the county's sales tax file.

Dear Abby...

DEAR ABBY: My husband is a minister. Together we seek to maintain a home that will be a blessing to our children and an example of upright living for our neighbors and parishioners.

We are faced with a problem that may seem small to some people but is big to us.

We have no ashtrays because we do not enjoy smoke in our home or lungs. We have certain friends who refuse to visit us because they know how we feel about smoking in our home.

Are we being unfair to make this simple request or not?

PASTOR'S WIFE
DEAR WIFE: It is not a "simple request" to a habitual smoker. Your lack of tolerance may occasion criticism from some of your smoking friends. I doubt if any of your really worthwhile friendships will go up in smoke.

DEAR ABBY: What do you think of a woman who sits herself in the front seat of the car next to her son and makes her daughter-in-law sit in the back by herself?

JUST WONDERING
DEAR JUST: A mother-in-law should not have to sit herself anywhere. A daughter-in-law, out of respect for her elders, should offer her mother-in-law, first choice of any seat in the car.

DEAR ABBY: My sister has three children, ages 5, 9 and 12.

I believe in punishing kids when they have it coming, but do you think a mother should hit a child because he "LOOKS GUILTY"?

(P.S. My sister claims she is being a good mother.) DENA

DEAR DENA: A "good mother" punishes a child only for a very good reason. And she makes sure the child knows that reason. It is not unusual for children to harbor the bitter resentment of undeserved punishments long after they have reached maturity. (P. S. As a "mother," your sister would have made a fine geologist. She has rocks in her head.)

DEAR ABBY: My child is 13 years old. He is rather nervous and high strung, and we were advised not to upset him. Lately I have been finding things that I know do not belong to him. He has confiscated other children's property in the past, and we have quietly returned it without making a fuss. We are worried because he has more money lately than he can save from his allowance. There has never been anything like this in our family before, and we want to know how to handle it. Thank you for a printed reply. No names please, as we are well known in this town.

New County Building Code Law Adopted

The new building code ordinance was adopted unanimously by the four-member board of supervisors this week with minor changes resulting from suggestions made last week by Albert Ceas, president of the Riverside County Farm Bureau.

County Counsel Ray Sullivan said he believes the alteration in the description of hazardous and unsanitary premises under which a building may be declared unsafe, are an improvement over the original draft.

The ordinance becomes effective Aug. 19.

Monday Meet Set In Steel Impasse

NEW YORK — (UP) — Federal Mediation Director Joseph F. Finnegan announced Wednesday night that the striking steel union and industry negotiators had agreed to meet jointly with him on Monday, but he said that didn't mean they were any closer to contract agreement to end the nation-wide strike, now in its eighth day.

A few hours later the Big Three aluminum producers turned down wage demands of the United Steelworkers of America (USW), posing the possibility of a shutdown of the bulk of the nation's production of that basic metal at the expiration of contracts July 31.

FINNEGAN LEFT for Washington Wednesday night to report to Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell on the steel situation, in which Mitchell has placed himself as a one-man fact-finder. Finnegan told newsmen that his statement of last week that there can be no quick or easy solution to the strike "still stands."

Monday's meeting will be the first meeting of industry and union negotiators since 500,000 basic steel workers went on strike at midnight July 14. An estimated 35,000 more persons in supporting industries have been laid off as a result of the shutdown of 85 per cent of the nation's steel production.

THE INDUSTRY, whose 12 biggest firms are represented by the four-man negotiating team, has refused to consider an increase in overall labor costs, demanding instead a wage and price freeze to combat inflation. The union claims the industry can raise wages without raising prices.

The aluminum industry apparently lined itself up behind the steel industry in rejecting the USW's 15-cent wage package demand. About 30,500 steel workers are employed by the Big Three firms — Aluminum Co. of America, Reynolds Metals and Kaiser Aluminum and Chemical Corp. They also employ about 28,000 workers represented by other unions.

The aluminum contracts normally follow the pattern set by steel contracts, and the USW has not indicated whether it will call a strike against them at contract expiration or extend contracts pending a steel settlement.

Ex-Convict Held For Possession Of Revolver

An ex-convict who allegedly purchased a revolver under a friend's name will be arraigned in Justice Court Tuesday on a charge of illegal possession of firearms.

The charge was filed against Daniel A. Braimes, 31, who served a prison term at San Quentin for burglary and armed robbery, according to Detective Neal Green.

Green said Braimes, now at liberty on $250 bond, purchased the gun at a local store with identification apparently "borrowed" from a friend. State law provides that possession of firearms by an ex-convict is a high misdemeanor, Green said.

NURSERY SCHOOL

commission a petition signed by 249 residents and business people who asserted that a definite need exists for the school.

Commissioner Harry Paisley, after all the testimony was recorded, moved that the permit be denied but his motion died for lack of a second.

"I LIVE IN THE area and I would necessarily oppose this," he stated, adding: "not because I live there but because this school is wrong for an area of this nature."

But the quality of the area was questioned by proponents who introduced pictures of vacant lots and area homes and challenged the use of the word "exclusive" in descriptions of the area.

The hearing ended as planning director Hy Ranes reported on a building and fire department investigation of the proposed school house, citing a list of 10 "defects" which Mrs. Ritter agreed to correct.

Commissioner George Gannon moved for approval of the permit, declaring that "it has been overwhelmingly proved that the school is in the best interests of the community and that a definite and immediate need exists for such a school."

COMMISSIONERS TED McKinney and Bill Foster supported the motion. Paisley and Lew Levy cast negative ballots.

In a hearing postscript, real estate salesman Bud Wehe commended Paisley for his "honesty" in noting his residence in the area but challenged the ethics of McKinney whom, he charged, "works with the real estate office" that provided the property for Mrs. Ritter.

"I resent your implications," Gannon retorted, also pointing out that "this hearing is over and your comments are out of order."

NEW GAMBLING LAW INTRODUCED

Councilman Ted McKinney, who came out earlier this month with a statement that he "wanted to see gambling in the Palm Springs area like there used to be," last night made the motion introducing the new city ordinance which will "prohibit" gambling of all kinds in Palm Springs.

In so doing, McKinney said that he was not reversing his stand, but was "cooperating with the Chief of Police in his request for local gambling controls."

"I would like to see legalized gambling here," said the Councilman, "but unless it can be of high caliber and well controlled to keep the cardsharks, high-rollers, and other undesirables out, I would be strongly against it."

"This is what Chief of Police August G. Kettmann asked for in order to do his job better," said McKinney, "and I'll certainly go along with him."

The vote introducing the ordinance was unanimous.

Doctor Suspect Can't Go to Slain Wife's Funeral

WEST COVINA, Calif. — (UP) — Dr. Bernard Finch, 41, accused of killing his socialite wife, Barbara, has been denied permission to attend her funeral Friday.

Finch, part owner of a medical center, petitioned Superior Judge Lewis Drucker late Wednesday to be allowed to leave his jail cell to attend the funeral, but the jurist turned him down. The Finches had been estranged.

Judge Drucker said he thought Finch's attendance at the funeral services would be "improper under the circumstances."

Cavett Speaker At Cathedral City Rotary

CATHEDRAL CITY — Jim Cavett, past president of the Palm Springs Rotary Club and founder of the Cathedral City Rotary Club, was guest speaker at the regular luncheon meeting of the Cathedral City club this week at Laury's Steak Ranch.

His question and answer program, regarding ways and means of improving Rotary, proved interesting and informative.

A report was given on the Rotary Fellowship Fiesta held at Pinyan Crest Tuesday night of last week. Sixteen Cathedral City Rotarians and their wives joined Rotarians from Desert Hot Springs, Palm Springs, and Indio at the invitation of the Palm Desert and Idyllwild Clubs, which inaugurated the Rotary Fellowship Fiesta last year.

Entertainment followed the "Chuck Wagon" dinner catered by Johnny Boyle. The success of last year's affair prompted the Palm Desert and Idyllwild clubs to include the other clubs of the Coachella Valley in respect to the aims and objectives of the late Paul Harris, who founded Rotary International, to create friendship, understanding and a cooperation among communities.

Taxpayers Should Not Have To Pay for Board Mistakes

An interesting dilemma is facing the Palm Springs Unified School District Board of Education — one which may cost the taxpayers between $500 and $1,000.

It can't be blamed on ignorance, although...

It all started when vacation schedules of board members were approved. It seems that everyone wanted to be gone during the early part of August—and approval was given for all so desiring to leave the state.

But there happens to be a definite time for the budget to be approved, also during the early part of August. And a quorum of the board must be present to take official action.

One member of the board is in Europe, another in Hawaii, a third in Texas, and a fourth in the State of Washington, leaving only one here. Three are needed to officially adopt the budget, and make last minute changes if they so desire. In years past very few if any of the district voters have shown sufficient interest to attend the budget hearing, so the quorum of three would be sufficient to go through the routine adoption of the previously discussed budget.

But the way it looks now two members will have to return from long distances to attend the budget hearing. And by a seldom used but still effective section of the school code they will be eligible to apply for reimbursement of travel expenses.

They do not have to apply, but they are eligible if ordered back by the board president, according to a ruling by County Counsel Ray Sullivan.

No, you can't call it ignorance, but you can call it poor judgment to allow the situation to develop.

Men administering the multi-million dollar school district here—who request the voters to give them this charge—should be able to arrange their personal affairs better to avoid placing an additional burden to what has been termed a difficult year ahead. Board members have approved raising the tax rate to the maximum, and even this action will not provide sufficient funds to maintain proper care of facilities.

We do not believe that the voters should be forced to pay for travel expenses, if they are requested.

As a member of a former board commented, "there has been no need for such consideration in past years, and there should be no need now."

Married to Their Hopes?

WASHINGTON, D. C. — "Pleasant the snaffle of Courtship, improving the manners and carriage; But the colt who is wise will abstain from the terrible thorn-bit of Marriage."

—Kipling
So it goes with the "courtship" of White House ambitions by all of today's contestants. It can be pleasant. And so it always has been with aspirants, like Harold Stassen, who become "married" to presidential ambitions. It can be terrible.

In watching such fellows as Kennedy, Johnson, Humphrey, Symington and Nixon, it's fun to speculate whether they are merely flirting or whether they show definite signs of matrimonial fixations, like this:

KENNEDY: Better than two years ago, April of 1957, he offered a bill which would give the Minimum Wage, by his own estimate, to five million additional workers. The Labor Department estimated that the Kennedy bill would actually include over six million workers. This, of course, pleased the Labor bosses.

And, if you read the fine print, you could see that Kennedy, in a flirtatious mood with the South, exempted from Minimum Wage eligibility such essentially Southern enterprises as — agriculture, small newspapers, forestry, pickling and canning, rural telephones. Senator Morse, who had a bill in 1957 for including better than ten million additional workers, attacked Kennedy's bill as being inadequate.

WELL, IN 1959, with the presidential election much closer, Kennedy has compromised with Morse and offered a bill closer to the AFL-CIO specifications covering almost eight million workers. In sum, the South, the Small Business community and conservative legislation seem to be less important with Kennedy than was true two years ago. Is Kennedy now feeling the "terrible thorn-bit of Marriage" to his hopes?

JOHNSON: It's 1959 or never if the Majority Leader is going to put over a Civil Rights bill to improve his stock on the Liberal exchange. He can't get such a bill through the Senate Judiciary committee, headed by Chairman Jim Eastland of Mississippi. Neither can Johnson start a bill rolling in the House of Representatives.

His Texas mentor, Speaker Sam Rayburn, is mad with Democratic Chairman Paul Butler and won't yield to the Butler demands. So Johnson, as he tells his friends, plans to bring to the floor a toothless old bill concerning contributions to Federal elections and to amend it by adding a set of Civil Rights fangs, including provisions to:

(A) EXTEND THE Civil Rights Commission to 1961.

(B) Outlaw certain State voting requirements, such as poll taxes.

(C) Require that election records be preserved and delivered upon demand to the U.S. Attorney General.

(D) Establish something called Federal Voting Registrars who would prepare eligibility lists of voters inside the States.

Is the Tall Texan courting or is he fixin' to get married to White House ambitions?

HUMPHREY: He was a pretty wild fellow when he came to the Senate in 1949, but later he joined "the club" and settled down a bit. But the other day I heard Humphrey testifying before the Foreign Relations committee on his own plan called Food for Peace. The bill is an agriculture giveaway scheme that hasn't been matched since Henry Wallace was going to deliver a quart of milk to every Hottentot.

Is Humphrey merely flirting with foreigners and global thinkers, who have relatively few votes? Or is he making love, and maybe proposing marriage, to the farmers who could decide a nomination or an election? Under the Humphrey Food For Peace plan, crops would be bought in billion-dollar lots by the taxpayers and dumped far from American markets.

SYMINGTON: He co-sponsored this Food For Peace plan.

NIXON: Well, despite his reputation as a man who wars the ball-and-chain of presidential ambitions, the Vice President has some fancy-free ideas about going into Law and making his family a lot of money. But the other day I was in the Senate gallery when a tie vote came up, 46 to 46, on whether to give the commercial airlines an extra subsidy of $80-million or $100 million.

Very clearly with the Administration fighting extravagance, and Nixon himself chairman of the Cabinet Committee Against Inflation, the Vice President had a duty to break the tie in favor of the lower figure. But he avoided the chair (and his duty). He sat unconcerned at the rear of the Senate chamber. A Vice President doesn't have to vote unless he wants to, but—shucks, we pay him $35,000 plus an entertainment allowance of $10,000 for little jobs like this.

Is the "terrible thorn-bit" of White House ambition beginning to bend the Vice President's neck?

—Holmes Alexander

A Slip Isn't Impossible

This Side of The Sun By Phat

Minneapolis, Minn. Monday, 7-20
There'll be no poem today. Had the first line all set like this:
"Heading west in a skytop lounge—"

Then I was stuck. Only thing I could think of to rhyme with 'lounge' was 'scrounge' and when I asked the porter what that meant, he said he thought it had to do with cheating. Sounded unpleasant.

So I abandoned the effort because we are now at a place called Red Wing and I only have an hour before mailing time at one of the twin cities.

GET AWAY DAY was hectic. Not only my four grandsons and their dad but their three best friends and the best friends' dogs put me on the train. The dogs didn't come along.

The two dogs were no trouble. Robbie, No. 4 grandson, created a bit of diversion at the last minute. He wanted to bring along the turtles.

(Yes, they have turtles, too, and goldfish yet and a parakeet.)

THE LAD was logical enough. The turtles had never seen a train, he argued.

When it was pointed out to him that neither had the bird nor the fish, he was open to reason.

The porter practically turned white when he saw the troupe. Thought they were all going.

YOU KNOW, right now I might as well comment on something that has puzzled me for a long time.

It bothers me every time I watch a fight on a Friday night on TV or see a big baseball game via the same medium. Why would anyone want to write on paper smeared with butter?

But every time, the guy takes a gob of butter, smears it down the sheet and shows you how his pen can write across it. I think that would be a very messy letter to receive. Rancid, too.

WE'VE CROSSED the Mississippi once and now we're crossing it again. That means we'll have to cross it a third time before we can head west.

Started out over familiar territory. When I was in the Little Flend stage many years ago, we used to come this way. Oconomowoc, Watertown and then cross the Mississippi at Prairie Du Chien on our way to Yankton, S. D., where my dad was the Samuel Guiberson of his day. He owned a cement mill there.

TODAY WE TOOK OFF at Watertown and headed for La Crosse. Lots of water here, too. Lakes all around and the Wisconsin River was a pretty sight.

Fellow sitting next to me tells me that Texas is still the greatest state ever and always coming up with something new. Said the new football stadium at West Texas State College is provided with outlets for the spectators' electric blankets.

This, by F. G. Kernan, is so right. "Change is what a person wants on a vacation — and a lot of currency, too."

STAN DELAPLANE'S Postcard

We are trying to go to France. Likewise Russia. France welcomes us with open arms. Russia is a different proposition. Russia is looking over my passport and visa application — I imagine it is being looked over anyway. They can read it in bed for all I care.

IT IS BEING looked over by the Ambassador — "Smiling Mike."

If they decide I am not a deep-freeze salesman in the cold war, they will let me come.

It has become very chic to go to Russia. And if there is one thing I want to be, it is up to date.

IOWA FARMERS go to Russia. Power plant executives look over the power plants on the Dnieper. Schoolboys go over and sing songs or swing those Russian cats with jazz.

Louis Armstrong goes to Russia. Richard Nixon goes to Russia. Even Russians go to Russia. You would think they would be happy to have a plain tourist go to Russia. A nice, French-trained, high-tipping tourist. A tourist so beaten down by touring that he cringes when the doorman holds out his hand for the tip.

A TOURIST WHO has learned to fawn on desk clerks and concierges for a room on the light well at double prices.

The last of the Big-Time Spenders.

The application for a Russian visa is a simple thing. You can pick them up from American Express. Age, material status—things like that.

They also wanted my weight. Heaven knows why. But I hope they are not figuring if I will fit in the nose cone of something they are shooting 'way up yonder. I guess not. I guess it is just a routine question.

MAYBE THEY WANT my weight to see how much I eat.

Whether I will deplete the cardiovascular supply.

Let me tell you something about that. I am a buff for cavalar. I like it on toast. But will eat it with a spoon, given half a chance. I am sharpening a tooth for that Russian cavalar.

I read in the guide book that you do NOT tip in Russia. But I will give the waiter a piece of advice on the stock market.

THAT IS WHAT we big-time spenders do at The Club. Instead of giving the faithful hat-check man a buck, we give him a tip on the market.

"A. T. and T. looks very good," we say. (It always looks good so you cannot go wrong on that. If you do not think A. T. and T. is doing good, take another look at your phone bill.)

THE RUSSIANS have had my application for a week, now. No startling announcements about it have come from Washington. They haven't said "da" and they haven't said "nyet."

That is Russian for "yes" and "no" and should show them I am trying hard. I am anxious to be a good tourist.

I wish they had asked me for references. I would refer them to the concierge at the George V in Paris. The doorman, too. The one who taught me how to tip Paris taxi drivers.

HE SAID I DID not have to tip a fortune. "Half the price of a new Cadillac is sufficient, monsieur," he said.

We held up our end very well in Italy, too. We gave the price of a stained glass window to the waiter at Osteria dell'Orso and he was hithering grateful.

After one delicious dinner at Horcher's in Madrid, I put the son of the waiter through college.

WHAT I MEAN, we are GOOD tourists. Even if you don't tip in Russia you can tell easily from my passport stamps that I have a wall-to-wall heart.

So what are we waiting for? I am as near as your A. T. and T. telephone. A nice, typical tourist. Cowed, cringing and loaded.

EARL WILSON:

New Will Rogers

"LOST WAGES, Nev." — Us old timers are always grouching that there's nobody around now like Will Rogers.

And we're constantly wondering whether Will, if alive today, would be able to like and tickle Nixon, as he tickled Calvin Coolidge and Charlie (Upside Down Pipe) Dawes.

A comedian who reminds people of Will is this tall, bony, drawing fellow named Bob Lewis (who shouldn't be confused with Robert Q. Lewis, but will be anyway). He's been on the Garry Moore, Jack Paar and Ed Sullivan shows, and is here with Ed's troupe at the Desert Inn. Ed decided his billing should read: "In the Will Rogers style."

"That was nice of Ed, but I'm not any Will Rogers — I'm just the world's greatest mediocre banjo player," said Bob, who sounds like he's from Arkansas, but was born in Winston-Salem, then moved on to Knoxville, Dayton and Chicago.

But he's got some cracks that Will might have liked.

"My mother-in-law," he says, for example, "is Jimmy Hoffa in a housecoat. She's the type of woman who would vote a town dry and then move."

"Back of every successful man, there stands a woman," he claims, "telling him how stupid he is."

It's interesting to me that all the good homespun humorists are fans of the late Abe Martin, whose real name was Kim Hubbard.

When Bob Lewis — who's about 30 — plays the Blue Angel in New York, he haunts bookshops looking for works of "the Hoosier humorist" (who actually came from Bellefontaine, Ohio).

"He was so underrated," Lewis said, fingering his long jaw when he talked.

He reached into his memory for some Abe Martinisms.

"You ever noticed that a feller with a pretty set of teeth will laugh at anything?"

Also: "The three tramps who were entertained by the Chamber of Commerce during the census-taking have been run out of town."

Then there were some others we both remembered: "Classic music is th' kind we keep thinkin' it turn into a tune" ... "Tinton Bud has got a joke on his wife. She thinks he's losin' his hearin' ... "when a feller says, 'It hain't th' money, but th' principle o' th' thing, it's the money.'"

And I brought up one of Will Rogers: "Ohio has more colleges and less bathtubs than any state in the union."

Bob and his wife, the former Virginia Johnson of Dayton, who works with him, go back to Ohio when not working — which isn't often. Bob says due to the Robert Q. Lewis confusion, he was once billed at the Chicago Palmer House as "Bobby Lewis."

"I felt like a 5-year-old tap-dancer," he winced.

Ed Sullivan wrote something into his act that Bob likes.

Bob closes by saying, "Some acts will do almost anything to get applause, such as mentioning their kids, or their mother. I've even known them to trade on their war record. Now as a veteran of two wars, the holder of the Purple Heart with the Oakleaf Cluster and as the recipient of the Congressional Medal of Honor, I personally frown on such tactics."

And then he runs off — after whipping an American flag out of his coat.

MIKE CONNOLLY:

No Reconciliation

HOLLYWOOD — Joan Caulfield tells me those reports that she's reconciling with millionaire producer Frank ("The Robe") Ross are erroneous. She's expecting his child (their first) in September but her steady date these nights is Los Angeles socialite Jack Ellis.

Lillian Harvey, once a great international star and head of her own production unit at UFA, Germany's greatest movie studio, is now proprietress of one of Ye Little Gifte Shoppes on the French Riviera.

ROCK HUDSON will houseguest this weekend with Doris Day to do a lot of publicity posing for their new picture, "Pillow Talk," but don't get any wrong ideas — they'll be chaperoned by Doris's mate, Marty Melcher.

They're calling the movie version of that big best-selling novel "Please Don't Eat Doris Day's Daisies." Metro, incidentally, has packed Patsy Kelly for this one, her first movie since 1943, as Doris's maid. I'm laughing already ... Young Flip Mark and Stan Livingston aren't twins and aren't even related but they've been cast as Doris's twin sons in the picture.

STUDIO MAKEUP (?) Department: Mae Jones visited the set of Frank Sinatra's "Never So Few" for a friendly chat with The Thin One's co-star and her own estranged spouse, Dean Jones. She brought their two children.

David Wayne claims he collided with a Good-Time-Clyde who spends money like water—with an eye-dropper.

Good friends Millie ("Anne Frank") Perkins and Susan ("Imitation of Life") Kohner are the leading contenders for the starring role in "The Story of Ruth." And right there you have the reason why it's difficult for actors and actresses to be really & truly close friends with others in the profession.

FOX PRODUCER Julian Blaustein is a real dreamer — he firmly believes that Liz Taylor and Marlon Brando will be so enthralled with the script for his upcoming remake of Rudolph Valentino's great "Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse" that they'll bypass the big star-salary demands that are stymying the start of too many pictures today. I hope nobody bursts Julian's pretty bubble.

Another pretty bubble: Leslie Caron, apparently convinced she can call her own shots because of the success of "Gigi," sent producer Arthur Freed her own sketches of the hair-do and wardrobe fancies for herself in her next Freed film, "The Subterraneans."

CARY GRANT lofted to London to twist Jack Kendall's arm about co-starring with himself and Deborah Kerr in his independent picture, "The Grass Is Greener."

A magazine salesman tackled Dean Martin outside the Hollywood Brown Derby about buying a subscription. Said Dean (who brags about drinking much more than he actually does): "I don't want it if I can't drink it."

CHANNEL CHATTER — Consider the tremendous toll television has taken on movie-going by the American public: as a result of it, Europe has become Hollywood's biggest market. That's why Metro moguls Sol Siegel and Joe Vogel are in Rome romancing producers over their to make pictures that will be financed by Metro and tailored strictly for European audiences. To put it another way, Europe is no longer our sideline, it's our lifeline.

Just so's they know everything's on the up-and-up in their new TV series, the ABC-TV bosses sent the can of film containing the first segment of Congressional Investigator to Washington, D. C. It'll be screened for the approval of Sen. John L. McClelland (D., Ark.), head of the Congressional Committee investigating racketeering in the labor and management fields.

FRANK SINATRA will not only show the restaurant co-owned by himself and Pe'e Lawford on his TV specs this year (a la Dino's in 77 Sunset Strip) — the cover of his next record album will show him standing in front of it.

Singer Lisa Kirk will do her first non-singing stint in a segment of Red Serling's new Twilight Zone series. The straight dramatic bit doesn't mean lovely Lisa is cancelling out her career as a canary; on the contrary, the CBS boys are spurring her to telecast her entire nightclub act as a spec ... Following which Lisa will get herself a new act — because who feels like forking over all that bistro boodle for a show he's seen for free on TV?

ELYSE KNOX, the wife of footballer-turned-sportscaster Tom Harmon, is coming out of retirement to do her own TV show, angled for women viewers. It starts shooting this week here for subsequent syndication cross-country as The Woman's Page, and need I go into detail about its subject matter?

Cool Nerves Needed for Large Party

By JEANNE LESEM
United Press International
NEW YORK (UPI) — Cool nerves and warm friendships are essential to the hostess planning a large party.

But if the thought of serving dinner to even 20 persons puts you on tranquilizers, read no further.

What follows is advice to women who would like to discharge a mass of social obligations by throwing one party — without servants — for as many as 80 guests.

The advisor is Florence Brobeck, a cookbook author whose latest work — "The Family Book of Home Entertaining" — will be published this fall.

Obviously, you need good nerves to attempt entertainment on so large a scale. Warm friendships are an asset, said Miss Brobeck in an interview, because the lack of hired help leads a hostess to count on friends and family for assistance.

If one friend is a restaurateur, you're in luck. He can lend utensils for quantity cooking, including enamel pots or crocks, which are preferred to metal containers for both salads and iced beverages.

Or you can borrow equipment from your church.

Except for a mixed salad, featuring chicken or potatoes, the author suggests do-it-yourself dishes.

For instance: platters of cheese and cold cuts, with side dishes of jars of pickles and relishes, mustard, mayonnaise and Thousand Island dressings, and whipped butter, which can be refrigerated until mealtime and still spread easily.

Provide assorted breads for sandwich fans, and buttered rolls or buns.

Skip fish and seafood for summer parties outdoors. They spoil too easily in warm weather.

Fancy canapés take too long to prepare. So for the cocktail hour, stock up on ready-made snacks — crackers seasoned with corn, cheese, celery, poppyseed and sesame seeds. These nibblers are good alone or with a cheese dip.

Add potato chips, mixed salted nuts and macadamia nuts.

Make an edible table decoration of a melon bristling with cheese cubes on toothpicks.

All olives, mixed pickles and cocktail gherkins should be speared on picks in advance, said Miss Brobeck, "because guests tend to re-use picks unless each snack comes with its own."

Local products — fruits or melons — make the best dessert for a big outdoor party, she said. Watermelons can be cut in advance, and the individual slices wrapped in cellophane and put to chill in tubs of ice.

A showier dessert, if you've time to make it, consists of watermelons filled with diced fresh fruit. Slice lengthwise "lids" from melons. Scoop out meat in large cubes, drain the shells and refill with melon chunks mixed with other peeled, diced fresh fruits, such as pineapple and peaches. Wrap melons airtight and chill in tubs of ice.

Soft drinks can be cooled the same way, and served in the bottles with straws.

You can even serve ice cream if dry ice is available to keep institutional size containers well-frozen until mealtime.

The cost for such a large-scale party?

It depends on actual number of guests, the locale, and whether you're entertaining with soft drinks or something more potent.

Swim Party Is Birthday Celebration

A swimming party helped celebrate the ninth birthday of Liane Muhleck, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Muhleck, at the family home on Desert Palm Drive.

The youngsters spent most of the afternoon in the swimming pool playing numerous water games before being served refreshments.

Hot dogs, soft drinks, potato chips and ice cream preceded the cutting of the beautifully decorated pink and yellow birthday cake which the children grouped around to sing "Happy Birthday" to the birthday girl.

Among the guests were Christine Loftus, Janet Harris, Tamara Jump, Kathy Hogan, Holly Wahlberg, Lydia and Beverly Murray and Marilyn Debs from Torrance.

Ellis' Watch Red, U.S. Games At Philadelphia

Ron and Billie Ellis reported by telephone this week that they had experienced one of the highlights of their summer visit in the East — the watching of the Russian-American track and field competition in Philadelphia.

They spent both Saturday and Sunday at the meet, and also had dinner with several American athletes, including Parry O'Brien. O'Brien made a tape recording in which he expressed his greetings to his fellow Palm Springs residents.

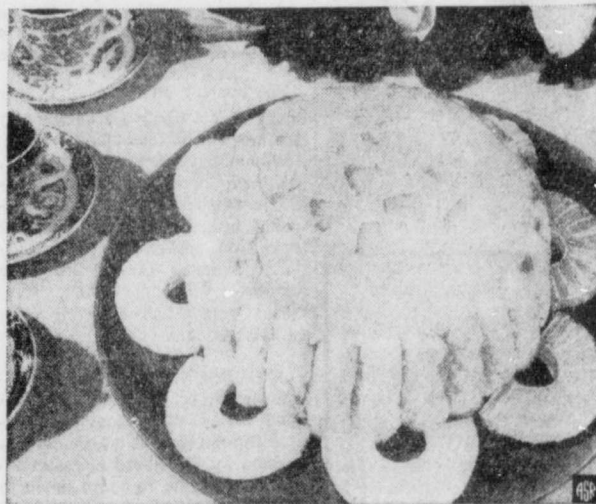

The Ellises also have visited the Soviet exhibit in New York City, and the Myaflower II. Further traveling will be put off for a week as he is to enter Temple University Hospital.

Daughter Visit Chester Cohagans

Mr. and Mrs. Chester Cohagan have as their houseguest her daughter, Patte Prebble who is visiting here from New York City.

Miss Prebble is associate producer for "Concentration Program," a TV quiz program which appears five days a week on NBC. The Cohagans plan this summer to spend their time between here and Playa del Rey. In August they will go to Texas for a few days.

Party Bound Pineapple Dessert

Pineapple Caramel Charlotte is a conversation maker that marks any meal or party as a special occasion. But in spite of the elegant appearance and wonderful flavor, you'll be pleased at what an easy dessert it is to make.

It can be made in a mold or spring form pan to serve at the table. If you prefer to use a loaf or deep sided cake pan and serve it in slices or wedges the pineapple design goes on top.

Pineapple Caramel Charlotte
1 envelope unflavored gelatin 1/2 pint whipping cream
1 1/2 cup cold milk Lady fingers, or plain cake
1 lb. vanilla caramels 1 can (9 oz.) sliced pineapple
1 cup canned pineapple juice

Mix gelatin and milk in top of double boiler. Add caramels and cook over hot water until caramels are dissolved, stirring occasionally. Remove from heat and add pineapple juice. Chill until the mixture mounds slightly when dropped from a spoon. Fold in whipped cream. Stand lady fingers around sides of a mold and arrange drained cut pineapple slices in a design on bottom. Fill with caramel mixture and chill until firm. Six servings.

Household Hints

Homemakers allergic to dust can use new polishes that are sprayed on furniture, combining the dusting and waxing chores. The spray traps dust which then is picked up in the polishing cloth. Dry dusting causes dust particles to float in the air where they are inhaled.

When sewing darts in the interlining of a coat, cut out dart along markings. Pin edges together and back with muslin. Stitch raw edges together with a satin stitch, back stitching at both ends. Make standard darts on the coat and lining.

To make even hamburger patties, press raw meat into an empty, opened - ended milk carton and slice through the carton to the desired size.

If you want roast meat to be juicy, do not salt or baste during cooking. For gravy, cut off a little meat and cook with the roast.

For a crisp green salad, have greens chilled and free of water. Add dressing seconds before serving to prevent wilting.

When cooking hamburgers on an outdoor grill for a crowd, keep the 'burgers hot in a sauce. One sauce contains 1/4 pound melted butter, 12 ounces of beer, 1/2 teaspoon each Tabasco and salt. Makes enough for 12 to 18 hamburgers.

A hot weather sandwich mix — softened cream cheese and diced garden vegetables such as green pepper, radishes and scallions.

When making custards or other dishes that call for hot milk, mix sugar with the egg, not with the milk.

Use acetone for removing such stains as fingernail polish and ball-point pen ink. Do not use the remover on acetate, Arnel, Dynel or Verel.

Sometimes chlorine in drinking water kills house plants. Try boiling and cooling the water.

Clean piano keys with a cloth moistened in denatured alcohol. Water can turn the keys yellow and cause them to become unglued.

To remove the scum from vases, wash them in a solution of two tablespoons of baking soda per quart of water. Swish the solution around in the vase, let it stand for a few minutes then rinse.

When using aluminum foil for outdoor cooking, seal the foil tightly so the steam will not escape and the food will not burn or dry out. Leave a little room around the food so the steam can expand. This way, the foil serves as a miniature pressure cooker.

Paper Apron Now Joins The Parade of Disposables

By GAY PAULEY
UPI Women's Editor

NEW YORK (UPI) — A woman artist's invention should eliminate those apron strings children frequently get tied to.

Matter of fact, Louise Pershing plans to do away with aprons as we women have known them.

The painter, a resident of New Hope, Pa., has produced a paper apron, to join the parade of disposables from tissues to towels.

"I've been giving a lot of thought to aprons," said the dark haired Miss Pershing during a recent visit to New York. "When you have a small kitchen and a servantless home, you have to. And who can afford servants these days? I wanted to make guests who offer to help the aprons pretty enough for the hostess."

Her thoughts, coupled with her skill as an artist, produced the disposables in three gaily-printed motifs—bandana, strawberry and ivy leaf. They are made with contoured bib and held in place with a tie-around belt.

The artist signs her paintings—and her aprons—as Louise Pershing. But in private life she is Mrs. Datus Berlin, the wife of a New York retail executive and mother of three boys — "another good reason for aprons," she laughed.

She said the idea for the disposables was a natural, getting them into production was another thing. She spent two years testing papers before she found one manufacturer's product which would be grease and water-proof and also be attractive. Now she has formed and is president of a company (Throway) to handle sales.

The artist, a native of Pittsburgh, has exhibited her paintings "all over the East and in South America" and has run art galleries in Pittsburgh and New Hope.

Pointed toes or no, we women will buy a record number of shoes this year, says a man in the know.

Each of us will purchase an average of five pairs in 1959, Irving Glass, executive vice president of the Tanners' Council of America, told visiting fashion reporters. Feminine purchases will help boost overall buying to 60 million pairs.

Glass listed these trends for the coming season:

—The oval and rounded toe will continue for late day and evening.

—Boots will come into style for all members of the family and for every occasion.

—The stacked leather heel will return in women's shoes.

—To go with the many shades of brown in ready-to-wear, there will be a whole range of browns for footwear—brassy brown, russet, golden brown and greyed brown; in addition, winter colors will include bone, beige, off-white and pastels.

Word Gone Out

Candidates Stay Out of Primary

By LYLE C. WILSON
United Press International
WASHINGTON — (UPI) — The somewhat belligerent word from the West Coast is that any and all out-state Democrats had better stay out of next year's California Democratic presidential primary.

The word comes from the little group of able men who are counseling Democratic Gov. Edmund G. "Pat" Brown on political strategy. Brown is at least a favorite-son candidate for the 1960 Democratic presidential nomination.

THE WORD ON California's presidential primary has been conveyed clearly to Sen. John F. Kennedy (Mass.), to Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey (Minn.) and to Sen. Stuart Symington (Mo.). It is believed in California that all three got the word and will abide by it.

Humphrey is on firm public record that he will not invade Brown's preserves. There is no indication that Symington has considered contesting California. Kennedy is not saying.

THERE IS EVEN less likelihood of a contest in the Republican presidential primary. So, it looks like Brown and Vice President Richard M. Nixon will win their home-state delegations without contest next year. Nixon is, of course, a candidate for the Republican presidential nomination, although he has not formally announced himself.

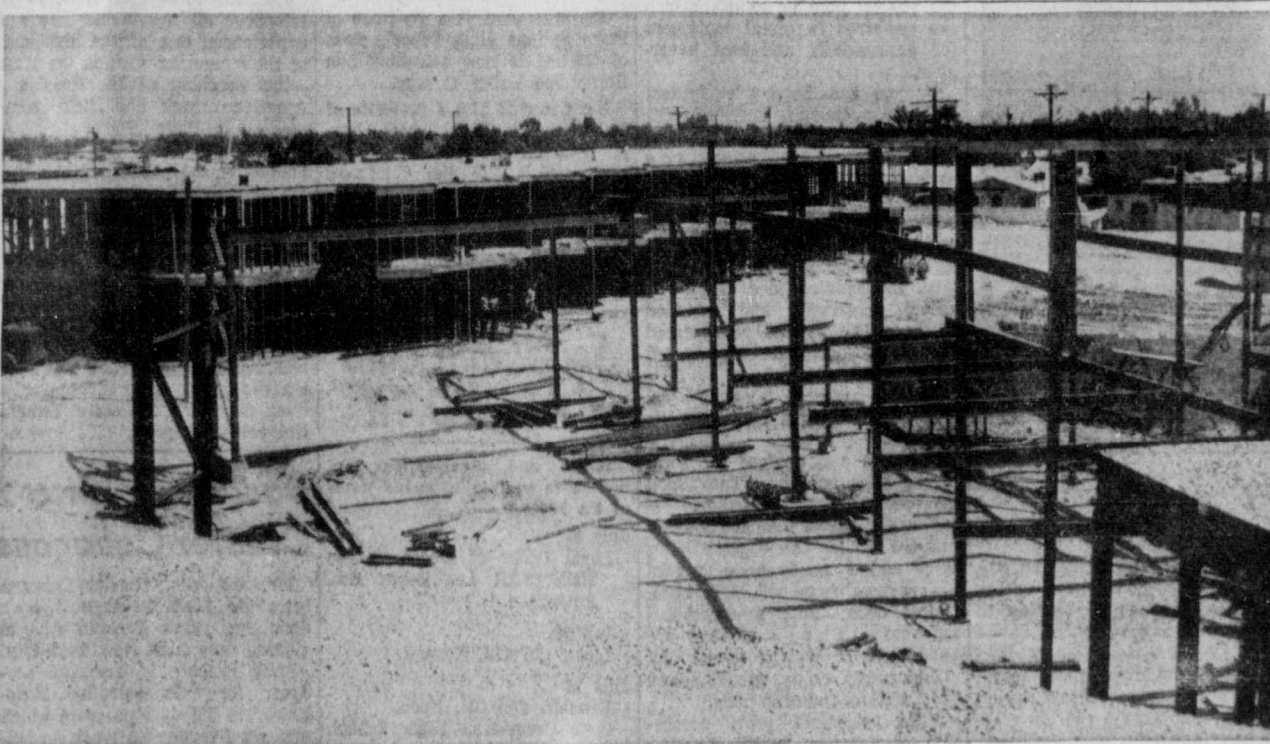

Brown's status is less definite. He was reluctant to commit himself to a mere favorite-son candidacy after taking office as governor. In February of this year, however, Brown so defined his political status. Your correspondent was in California when the announcement was made. During a brief discussion of it with the governor, your correspondent was convinced that Brown was a favorite-son candidate for one purpose only.

THAT PURPOSE was to control the California delegation to the 1960 Democratic national convention and to exercise such influence there as such control would assure. Brown neither looked, acted nor talked last February like a man who was aiming at the White House.

The additional word from California today is of some slight change; enough, perhaps, to suggest that Brown can conceive of events which might obtain his nomination for President.

NETWORK OF STEEL GIRDERS dot the landscape on North Indian Avenue where the 26-acre Riviera Hotel is taking form. Construction activities have already seen framing of the entire, 250-room hotel completed with lathing and plastering well along. The Riviera will feature a convention hall suitable for 1,300-member meetings and will also possess one of the largest swimming pools in the United States. (Desert Sun Photo).

To Offset Costs

Gas Companies Given Rate Hike

LOS ANGELES — (UPI) — A $16,031,000 yearly rate increase was granted Southern California and Southern Counties Gas companies today by the State Public Utilities Commission.

The increase will add between 30 and 40 cents each month to the bill of the average householder.

THE PUC APPROVED the boost to offset a comparable increase in the cost of gas supplied by the El Paso Natural Gas Co. and the Pacific Lighting Gas Supply Co.

It was emphasized that the rate increases would not add to the local companies' earnings, but merely compensate them for higher wholesale rates.

THE PUC SAID it was "gravely concerned" with the increase and reminded the local companies of their duty to "vigorously resist all proceedings before the federal commission" involving gas rates affecting California consumers. The PUC has intervened in the El Paso rate case, protesting any increased charges for gas brought to California.

Southern California Gas Co. serves more than 1,600,000 customers and Southern Counties Gas Co. serves some 675,000 customers in Imperial, Kern, Kings, Los Angeles, Orange, Riverside, San Bernardino, San Luis Obispo, Santa Barbara, Tulare, Ventura and Fresno counties.

El Paso supplies about three-quarters of the gas distributed by the two companies. The increase in rates may be passed on to California customers only after the supplier obtains federal authority to raise its rates Aug. 1.

PREVENT WASTE, CHECK FOR LEAKS...

You don't want to waste water... of course not. Wasted water does no one any good, and a simple thing such as a leaky faucet in the bathroom will cost you extra dollars over a period of time. Therefore periodically check all your fixtures which have anything to do with dispensing water—washbowls, toilets, coolers, outside faucets — every place that water can escape. Don't attempt temporary repairs with hairpins, tape, etc., for it will only give you temporary relief and cost you more money in the long run.

Here's a method to check for leaks. First, shut off the flow of water from all fixtures supplied by the meter. Then note the location of the pointer on the dial of lowest denomination on your meter. If this pointer moves one fourth of the way around in 10 minutes you're wasting over a dollars worth of water per month. If leakage cannot be located and repaired, call your plumber.

COUNTY BUDGET HEARINGS START

The hearing on the final county budget for 1959-60 got under way this week with announcement by Administrative Officer Robert T. Andersen that an additional $210,000 is needed to meet requirements brought about by welfare legislation, retirement, three additional Superior Courts, and one additional Municipal Court.

This would increase the tax rate about four cents.

ANDERSEN SAID it will be another week or two before he can have ready suggestions for cutting the budget $1,400,000 as requested by the Board of Supervisors to bring the tax rate down to $1.62, two cents below the present rate of $1.64.

ANDERSEN SAID the only cuts he could visualize at the moment were in the capital outlay, keeping building down to those already approved and taking out $258,000; a cut of approximately $200,000 by eliminating positions allowed but not filled; and eliminating purchase of new automobiles for the county car fleet with provision of a minimum car allowance to employees using their own cars. All three measures were proposed by the Riverside County Farm Bureau.

The next session on the final budget is scheduled for July 27.

Floyd 'Ain't Gunshy' So Why's He Hiding?

By OSCAR FRALEY

PHILADELPHIA (UP)—Dethroned heavyweight champion Floyd Patterson is a 17-10 favorite today to regain the title in his rematch with Ingemar Johansson and Al (the Vest) Weill scoffs at theories that those seven knockdowns may have made Patterson gun shy.

"It's just another night's work for a fighter," says the man who managed Rocky Marciano to the title and also handled such as Marty Servo, Lou Ambers and Joey Archibald.

"Only an ordinary fighter, a guy without any heart, would let it affect his future." . . . why then, one wonders, has Patterson been in virtual hiding since his defeat? . . .

CARY MIDDLECOFF, the good golf doctor, had better sit down and have a long talk with the "ghost" who writes his daily syndicated instructional series.

"If you fiddle around too long lining up a putt and then stand over it so long that your muscles get tensed or cramped, you just about have lost any chance of making it," Cary is quoted in a recent item . . . a case of do as I say, not as I do, from the world champion slowest putter . . .

Dizzy Dean blames the protective batting helmets now in use for the increase in throwing at the hitters.

"In my day, we jost wore a cap," he says. "Now this here hamlet (helmet) is sposed to protect the batter's head. So the pitcher, he ain't afraid of hurtin' guys anymore, he just goes ahead and throws. There's more throwin' now-days account of them hamlets." . . . well, hamlet was a tragedy.

Billy Casper, the putting man, isn't given much chance of adding the PGA title to his U.S. Open crown when the pros go at it over the Minneapolis Golf Club layout July 30-Aug. 2.

They figure it's too long and the player with the "big game" will take it . . . like Sammy Sneed?

Avila's Homer Snaps Braves Loss Streak

Dodgers Bow To Cubs, 7-2; ChiSox Win

Cleveland Ousted From AL Lead by Loss to Yankees

United Press International
One swing of Bobby Avila's bat and Fred Haney can feel the Milwaukee Braves' second - base woes are behind them.

Acquired from the Boston Red Sox only 24 hours earlier, the ex-American League batting champion pulled the Braves out of their seven - game losing streak Wednesday night with a two-run ninth-inning homer that produced a 5-4 victory over the Cincinnati Reds.

THE WIN, THE Braves first since July 13, moved them back into third place and also presented Warren Spahn with his 12th victory of the season and the 25th of his career.

THE SAN FRANCISCO Giants, meanwhile, increased their NL lead to 1½ games with a 6-1 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals while the second-place Los Angeles Dodgers bowed to the Chicago Cubs, 7-2. The Philadelphia Phillies crushed the Pittsburgh Pirates, 11-4, in the other game. The Chicago White Sox took over first place in the American League by one game when they shaded the Boston Red Sox, 5-4, and the New York Yankees downed the Cleveland Indians, 8-5. The Detroit Tigers beat the Washington Senators, 6-2, and the Kansas City A's downed the Baltimore Orioles, 6-3.

Solons Wallop Mounties, 13-0, To Regain Lead

United Press International

Just when you give the Sacramento Solons up for dead they show more fight than a newly hooked sailfish.

The Sacs, who've been listless in recent weeks with a hitting attack hardly befitting the first place team in the Pacific Coast League, exploded for a 13-0 win over Vancouver Wednesday night.

The victory dropped the Mounties a game behind the Solons. Bob Perry, about the only Solon who can qualify as a consistent power hitter, slammed a pair of three run homers to lead the onslaught. Joe Stanka, who recorded his 12th win of the season to become the PCL's winningest pitcher, also hit a three run homer in a big seven run first inning.

Other games saw Phoenix get taken by Portland, 2-1; San Diego clip Spokane, 7-2, and Salt Lake measure Seattle, 5-4.

Perry's two clouts upped his season homer total to 13 while Stanka's was his second.

Olivera Notches No-Hitter Over Dick Davis Tigers

Jerry Olivera hurled five innings of no-hit, no-run ball last night as the Junior Police, champions of the Palm Springs Little League, defeated the Dick Davis Tigers, winners in the Coachella Valley Recreation District Little League.

The score was 4-0. Olivera walked two and had one other base runner by virtue of an outfield error.

But the husky little thrower struck out 13 in the five-inning performance. The only ball hit out of the infield went for an error. To cap his pitching work, Olivera also had two of the Junior Police hits and drove in the first JP run.

Line score and batteries: Dick Davis Tigers . . . 000 00-0 0 4 P. S. Junior Police . . . 301 00-4 3 1 Lucero and Wyman. Olivera and Howe.

Builders Blast Phonemen, 13-2 In DSL Game

Palm Springs Builders Supply coupled 11 hits with eight walks and walloped the California Water and Telephone Company nine by a 13-2 margin in a Desert Soft-ball League game last night in the Polo Grounds here.

Third round play begins in the DSL tonight with the Palm Springs Biltmore — tied for first place — meeting the Desert Sun - Chi Chi — tied for sixth place.

PSBS pitcher Sal Valdivia had control of the situation when he needed it. He gave up three hits in the second inning but chopped the Phonemen down with just one run. He gave up one more run an inning later when Dino Di-Grandi tripled and came home on Howard Keeney's squeeze.

Frank Valdivia had a double and a triple for the Builders to lead the team's hit parade.

Line score and batteries: Builders Supply . . . 230 44-13 11 1 Telephone Company . . . 011 00-2 3 4 S. Valdivia and Ochoa. Martin, Miller and Leifeld.

Pastrano Meets Johnson Friday

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UP)—Brawny Willie Pastrano of Miami, Fla., who hit the skids in the ring ratings after deciding Chicago's Johnny Holman here two years ago, meets eager Alonzo Johnson in a 10 - round Friday night fight to be beamed nationally.

Johnson, of Braddock, Pa., is a substitute for Alex Miteff, the big Argentine heavyweight who was sidelined by a kidney infection.

'CIRCLE R' RANCH GOLF course, located just 9 miles north of Escondido, is "the" summer golfing spot in the southland. Operated by general manager and ex-Palm Springer Herb Rauch, the complete golfing facility includes a clubhouse with locker facilities, dining room, cocktail lounge and golf shop, a putting green—seen above behind Rauch — and driving range. Some accommodations have been completed this year and more are on the planning board for construction with occupancy set for next summer. (Sun Photo).

'CIRCLE R' RANCH PUTS BIT OF VILLAGE IN ESCONDIDO

By FRED WEIGEL

A growing interest in golf facilities, heavily supported by Palm Springs winter residents, is reflected in the newest summer facility in Southern California — the Circle R Ranch near Escondido.

Located in Moose Canyon, just 9 miles north of Escondido, the facility is managed by ex-Palm Springs night club manager and real estate man Herb Rauch.

THE CLUB IS contained on a total of 200 acres with another 400 acres set aside for future hotel, recreation, and shopping areas, and is located on the left side of Highway 395 as you drive from Palm Springs to Escondido.

The 18-hole PGA approved course has been laid over, between, and around the rolling hills of Moose Canyon.

Many of the facilities of the public course have been completed, including daily, weekly, and monthly accommodations, a clubhouse with dining room and cocktail lounge, a golf shop, and a banquet room which will hold 125 persons.

MASTER PLAN for the course was done by Simon Eisner and Associates, special consultants to the city council and planning commission of Palm Springs. Circle R Ranch is a corporation made up of 35 shareholders and governed by a board of Directors. Members of the Board of directors include: John Trowbridge partner in one of the West's largest Realty Firms which specializes in ranch properties in Pasa Robles, Pasadena, and Nevada; General Lee Utz, USMC (Ret.) Avacado rancher, Palm Springs winter resident and a property owner at Bermuda Dunes; Harold Hare, administrative superintendent ant of maintenance at Occidental College and well-known Palm Springs visitor; Eldon Osborne, Pasadena general Paving Contractor; Jack Strube, head of Rech Manufacturing company in L.A. and Corona; also a frequent Palm Springs winter visitor, and Bob McClean, a Los Angeles attorney and the youngest member of the Board.

RAUCH, WHO IS in complete charge of the operation of the course, said that they are getting ready to re-align some of the fairways and greens, and are starting now on the construction of additional accommodations, own-your-own apartment project, and fairway lot sales.

Plans are also being completed for a recreation area adjacent to the golf club facilities, a trailer park, shopping center, and highway frontage motel.

RAUCH, WELL-KNOWN in Palm Springs, was manager of the Tennis Club as well as a local night club, and a few years ago started "Hap" Des Jardines, a 40-year-old swim teacher who used to swim from San Francisco to Alcatraz "for exercise."

VILLAGE MEDIC AIDING SWIMMER IN TAHOE TEST

Special to The Desert Sun
LAKE TAHOE, Calif. — If a swimming instructor here conquers the chilly, 22-mile length of Lake Tahoe next month one of the persons who can claim some of the credit is a Palm Springs doctor.

Dr. W. W. Catherwood, Jr., of 305 Sycamore Circle, Palm Springs, is official trainer for "Hap" Des Jardines, a 40-year-old swim teacher who used to swim from San Francisco to Alcatraz "for exercise."

The Villager has set up a rigid system of diets, out-of-the-water exercising, ice-cube baths and other training gimmicks aimed at readying Des Jardines for the grueling swim next month.

Machen Seeking Johansson Bout After TKO Win

PORTLAND, Ore. (UP)—Eddie Machen, who said he would do his talking in the ring, hoped today that he was eloquent enough against Rubeo Vargas to earn a shot at the heavyweight championship.

"I'm ready to take on Ingemar Johansson in his own back yard," Machen said after blasting Vargas in 1:55 of the sixth round for a technical knockout at the Oregon Centennial Exposition grounds Wednesday night.

Lines Tell of 10,000-Mile Freighter Trip to Antarctica

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Winfield and Grace Line, 571 Indian Trail, are currently fulfilling a dream of many years duration—sailing around the Horn on a freighter. Here is their account of their trip on the M. S. Hardanger, written while passing through the Straits of Magellan.)

By WINFIELD AND GRACE LINE

Our ship will soon be passing Punta Arenas which is one of the southernmost cities in the world. Other than one light house it will be the first sign of human habitation we have seen in nearly 1,000 miles of Chilean coast.

As our ship plows through this waterway which Magellan discovered so many centuries ago, we look up on either side to towering snow-capped peaks with blue ice glaciers dropping their icebergs into the sea on our port side, we will pass the wild, jumbled emptiness of Tierra del Fuego and will round the tip of Patagonia to head northward to Buenos Aires and Rio de Janeiro.

FOR YEARS we had dreamed about this trip around the Horn on a freighter. It is difficult to get reservations as relatively few ships make this 10,000 mile trip, and each freighter carries only 12 passengers. Reservations are made up to two years in advance.

Life on a modern freighter surpasses that of most first class passenger boats for cabin space and accommodations, quality of food, and recreation and deck facilities. This freighter even has a swimming pool.

MORE THAN a month and a half ago we sailed from Los Angeles, our first port of call being Buenaventura, Colombia. We walked and drove around the town and into the surrounding jungle. The people appeared to have but little, yet they were friendly.

In Quayaquil, Ecuador, we saw signs of Communist activity, and the day after we left, street fighting broke out in the city taking 23 lives. We had no cause to complain about our treatment, however, and we made a number of friends as we sat in the parks or walked around the city.

IN LIMA, PERU there was a great amount of hand-work in silver, gold, wood, and fur to interest us. The people were friendly, short, and dark. Most of them appeared to be of Indian stock, descendants of the Incas. We visited pre-Inca ruins which were inhabited 2,000 years ago. As it seldom rains here, even human bones of bygone centuries were still in abundance to be picked up if one so desired.

While our ship was at anchor off Tocopilla, Chile, loading 4,000 tons of nitrate, a severe earthquake shook the town and to our amazement our ship shook violently on the water. Antofagasta and Valparaiso, Chile came and went. Every place the ship stopped we were interested in the people and their history.

IN THE LITTLE-HEARD port of Hauchapato, Chile, a ninety mile gale, the worst in 50 years, forced us to raise anchor and head for the open sea and a safer port. Although our ship was heavily loaded we pitched widely, dishes crashed, and we skated across the floors in our chairs, but no one was hurt and we soon came into the beautiful harbor of Talcahuano to find that three small ships had sunk there during their heart of the storm.

As we headed further south we began to see the giant albatross. Whales and sea-lions added to the ocean's interest, but no longer saw the sharks, porpoises, turtles, and flying fish that had been our delight in equatorial inland water passages of Chile, and the Straits of Magellan.

WE WERE ENTERING one of the most beautiful and most dangerous waterways in the world, and our captain kept his fingers crossed for good weather. It is now the dead of winter here. Before entering the inland channels we crossed the Golfo de Penas (Gulf of Trouble), where according to the guide book, "the furious ocean has taken its fiercest toll of ships and human lives." Fortunately we went across this gulf on a quiet night before the passengers had read the guide book.

To quote further from the South American Handbook, "It is one of the rainiest and stormiest regions on earth; the sun shines through the fog and clouds on an average of 51 days a year. There is a maze of islands—the tops of submerged mountains, separated by tortuous fjord-like channels—a veritable topographical hystera. In some places the tide changes level by 40 feet. In the English Channel, two sharp-cut walls 3,000 feet high, enclose a constricted channel in which the waters are deeper than the cliffs are high. Where the Smyth Channel enters the Straits of Magellan, there is a ship's cemetery where a whole shore is lined with stranded hulks and tortured riggings."

WE SAW and photographed many of these wrecks. Our ship had taken on a special Chilean pilot at Valparaiso who was to be with us for 3,000 miles. From the time we entered the Messier Channel, he stayed on constantly in the wheelhouse; two men were posted at the prow, and another kept constant watch of the radar screen. Even then, our ship stopped for five hours one night as the tortuous passage ahead was too narrow and twisting to risk without daylight. And of course we don't have much daylight as it gets dark at 5 p.m. and light at 8 a.m.

ON OUR FIRST morning in the channel we found the ship breaking a thin sheet of ice. It was comical to see the sea gulls walking and sliding around on the ice. At times the canyon walls were so close on either side we could have heaved a rock on shore had we been able to find a rock on board. The shores and rocks were green covered for about a thousand feet, then solid snow and ice to altitudes of over 11,000 feet. Where glaciers came down to the sea, icebergs broke off. Our radar could pick up these giant chunks of ice, but even then it was hazardous traveling at night. In the channel we were blessed with one of the few sunny days of the year, and cameras were clicking constantly.

OUR FRIEND and neighbor, Charles Van Sicken, had made this trip around the horn in his own motor sail boat some years ago, and his last warning to us was to be sure we knew our life boat procedure. We carried this warning even further. Before we went to bed we packed a survival kit of warm clothing, matches, and vitamins. There was just enough danger to give everyone a good feeling of excitement.

Two breathtaking days of this beauty, and then we were through the Straits and out in the open Atlantic, farther south than we had ever been before. In the night skies above, the Southern Cross, the Coal Sack, and two great navigational stars, Canopus and Achernar, which we never see in northern United States, now compete with many of our familiar constellations.

When we land in Buenos Aires we will have been 50 days on this ship. There we will leave the ship for good and will fly the rest of the journey to Uruguay, Brazil, Trinidad, Puerto Rico, Dominican Republic, Haiti, Jamaica, and Cuba. We will be glad to get home.

For Jail Site

Board Reverts To Original Plan

By a three to one vote, with Supervisor Paul Anderson absent, the Board of Supervisors reverted this week to their original plan, backed originally and again now by recommendations of Administrative Officer Robert T. Anderson, to build the county jail and probation office on the site of the old jail building adjacent to the courthouse at the northwest corner of Orange and Eleventh Street in Riverside.

Supervisor George Berkeley repeated his vote against the Orange and Eleventh site.

SUPERVISOR CURTIS Chamberlain who originally voted with Supervisor Fred McCall and Supervisor William Jones in favor of the Orange and Eleventh site, later opposed a move to locate part of the jail at Arlington which was instigated by McCall and Jones, and still later proposed moving of the entire jail and probation department, as well as the county health center, to the Arlington location, was joined this week by McCall and Jones in his motion to build the entire jail and probation facility next to the courthouse.

McCall and Jones went along with the return to the Orange and Eleventh choice only when Chamberlain reluctantly agreed to including in the motion that the architect be instructed to proceed with plans for the health center at Arlington.

CHAMBERLAIN, WHOSE move to withdraw condemnation proceedings which would have obtained for the county the final property needed for the health center site on Eleventh between Orange and Lemon, and who later acted to move the health center to Arlington, appeared to have undergone another change of heart this week with the appearance before the supervisors of Riverside's City Manager Don Hunter with a plea for a joint downtown county-city civic center.

The plan presented by Hunter showed the closing of Eleventh Street between Orange and the freeway, with the civic center occupying the area between Tenth and Twelfth except for a medical building and adjacent business building on Tenth Street.

SHOWN ON THE civic center site were the health center, hall of records, city hall, and police administration building, with the jail adjacent to the courthouse in the block between Tenth and Eleventh on the west side of Orange.

A motion by Supervisor Berkeley to instruct county counsel to prepare a resolution approving the proposed civic center plan was seconded by Chamberlain, but was nullified by the opposing votes of McCall and Jones. It was following this deadlock that the action was taken to approve the courthouse site for the jail and probation building, in which Chamberlain agreed to authorizing plans for the health center at Arlington.

CITY MANAGER Hunter said the removal of the health center to a site nine miles away from city administration buildings might well force the city to discontinue its contract with the county health department and to form its own separate department. The city now pays the county $21,000 annually. He said daily contact with the health department is essential.

Hunter observed that voters who approved the health center bond issue did so with the clear understanding that it would be built on Eleventh Street. He said Riverside city voters wouldn't have voted for the center nine miles away. Administrative Officer Andersen agreed that all printed material sent out and all speeches had referred to the Eleventh Street location.

Fire Escape Chute

STOWE, Vt. (UPI) — A 19th century schoolhouse still standing here is equipped with a unique fire escape chute. In olden days, to escape from the second floor in case of fire, pupils would merely hop into this chute and slide to safety at a breathtaking speed.

"I WON'T DANCE" seems to be the theme song of this reluctant quartet which, with the possible exception of the gent second from right, is apparently able to resist the charms of these beseeching young ladies. The girls are, left to right, Terry Cray, Jay Mead, Gene Wilde and Jim McCance. The girls are, left to right, Maurine Moss, Sandi Brewster, Dolores Romero, Janet Carey, Lily Duran and Sandi Nelson. Farmerettes Set At Farmers Fair

With opening day, Aug. 19, but five weeks away, staging of the 13th annual Farmers Fair of Riverside County moved into high gear this week after the five Farmerettes to reign over the five day event were selected.

Th judges were pressed to the limit to select but five from 29 candidates representing 11 county communities, which was by far the largest number ever to enter the annual contest.

AFTER MORE THAN three hours screening the entries at Riverside's Mission Inn, the four professional judges announced their selections as: Judy Trueblood, sponsored by the Perris Valley Chamber of Commerce; Shirlee Harrison, entered by the Arlington Chamber of Commerce; Betty Mooney, Corona Chamber of Commerce entry; Bunny Currie, entered from Hemet, and Julie Bonham, entered by the Beaumont Soroptimist Club.

The lucky quintette of county beauties will appear as chaperoned guests of the fair before clubs and on radio and TV programs to the Aug. 19 opening date.

DURING THE FIVE days of the fair they compete among themselves in a series of farm chore contests, including cow milking, tractor driving, baking, jeans patching, and a mystery contest unknown to the contestants until time of staging. High point winner in the events, intended more as fun provoking than of skill, is then crowned Farmer's Daughter of 1959.

The Farmers Fair, held on the grass covered, dust-free Hemet grounds, is one of the few remaining fairs built primarily around products of the soil, and development of rural living, though high grade entertainment is always provided to balance the event-packed five days, Bud Nelson, fair manager, said.

The Importance Of Proper Site Location

Did you ever stop to think why one home development project is successful while another seems to be doomed from the start? Very often the reason for success or failure lies in the location of the project. In the case of our company, once we determine that a need for homes exists in an area, a great deal of thought is given to choosing the proper site. Before making a decision we take into consideration many things such as zoning, local housing, lot depths, construction costs, taxes and assessments, availability of utilities, police and fire protection, schools, shopping, traffic conditions, public transportation service, plus the intangible factor of what surrounds the area on which the development is to be built.

When all of the above is done the next step is to obtain favorable financing. A responsible lending institution checks on the desirability of the site and the type of homes we are to build before making a commitment. The reason why all of these considerations are so important is that on them depend whether homes in the development will be desirable now as well as in future years. Because we are so familiar with Palm Springs, its growth pattern, and all of the factors making a home not only desirable but valuable, our home developments have enjoyed unusually favorable loans.

The three developments now being offered by this company are outstanding examples of proper site location. We hope that those interested in securing a home in Palm Springs will take the time to carefully study all of the factors that make these sites desirable. Try to picture your home five, ten, fifteen or more years from now. Will it be even more valuable than it is today? Will its location be even more desirable than it is now? We are certain that in the case of our homes the answer is an emphatic "yes." It is all part of our formula for success, "Give the people something better at a price and on terms they can afford."
